MARKET REVIEW

MSCI Asia ex-Japan surged approximately +4.6% (in MYR terms), in the month of November 2023, the best monthly performance since January 2023. This is on the back of lower US 10-year Treasury, coupled with the depreciating US Dollar which gave some relief to inflationary pressure. In November, there was a rapid shift in market expectations from "higher for longer" to a "US goldilocks". Essentially, rapid disinflation that allow large rate cuts without significant growth deterioration in the US.

Oil prices saw further declines in November as demand conditions continue to soften. US shale supply has been unexpectedly robust, Israel-Hamas conflict stayed contained, and OPEC+ supply discipline was less forceful. At the opposite end, gold prices gained another 2.6%, reclaiming the $2000 level and trading close to YTD highs by month-end. A combination of peak rate expectations, geopolitical risks, and concerns about fiscal imprudence have supported gold prices.

MARKET OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

For Fund strategy, stocks with structural growth prospects remain as key focus. Indonesia names are favoured for the good economic growth and developments in commodities down-streaming, which increases exports and stabilizes the currency. Consumer and financial sectors are preferred in Indonesia. We continue to favour Taiwan and South Korea markets, which have performed well given the AI theme and the bottoming of the semiconductor cycle. We are overweight on India which is driven by banks which have robust growth and reasonable valuations as well as high-end consumer story that is growing healthily despite inflationary headwinds. We are currently moderately underweight China due to the slowing growth outlook.

Fund invested level is around 96%. Stocks with secular growth prospect makes up c.41% of invested positions, and around 15% are invested in dividend yielders. Stocks which are more cyclical and other tactical positions make up the remainder of the portfolio's investment.
